ABOUT FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The rapid digitization of society has brought unparalleled advancements in technology, connectivity, and access to information. However, these benefits come with an increasing prevalence of cyber threats, cybercrimes, and sophisticated attacks targeting individuals, organizations, and governments. In this digital age, cybersecurity, cyber law, and forensics play a pivotal role in safeguarding critical infrastructure, ensuring privacy, and maintaining the rule of law in society and cyberspace.

Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on “Modern Approaches to Cyber Security, Cyber Law and Forensic Education: Trends, Challenges and Practices” is highly relevant in the present academic and professional landscape, particularly with the growing convergence of cybercrime investigation, digital evidence, AI-driven threats, cyber laws, and forensic technologies. The current FDP focused on interdisciplinary integration between cybersecurity, digital forensics, legal frameworks, and modern investigative practices.

The 4th Edition One Week FDP aims to provide a multidisciplinary platform for professionals, academicians, policymakers, and industry experts to discuss cutting-edge developments, emerging trends, and pressing challenges within the fields of cybersecurity, law, and forensic sciences. Under the theme “Modern Approaches to Cyber Security, Cyber Law and Forensic Education: Trends, Challenges and Practices” the FDP will facilitate thought-provoking discussions and foster collaboration to address these global issues effectively.

This FDP aligns with the goals of the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UNDESA) and integrates principles of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) specifically:

SDG 4 (QUALITY EDUCATION):

By fostering knowledge-sharing, capacity-building, and skill development in cybersecurity and forensics.

SDG 8 (DECENT WORK AND ECONOMIC GROWTH):

By exploring robust cybersecurity frameworks to enhance digital economies and create safe digital workspaces.

SDG 9 (INDUSTRY, INNOVATION, AND INFRASTRUCTURE):

By emphasizing innovative solutions and resilient cyber infrastructures critical for advancing digital economies.

SDG 11 (SUSTAINABLE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES):

By addressing the role of cybersecurity in building smart, sustainable, and secure urban ecosystems.
